CONNIE MACK VINDICATED.

Krause, Now a Nap, Proves Soft for Red Sox Sluggers.

Boston, July 22.—Connie Mack's judgment was again vindicated to-day. Harry Krause, whom he sold to Toledo, pitched for Cleveland to-day with ten consecutive victories with Toledo as the reason for his return to the big league. He lasted four innings. Boston hit Krause hard and in addition he was poorly supported. Baskette, who succeeded him, fared little better.

FLETCHER THE BIG HERO

Bats In Two of Giants' Four Runs and Kills Would-be Red Rallies.

The Giants further nourished their new winning streak yesterday by beating Cincinnati the second straight game of the series. However, their lead over the Cubs and Pittsburg did not increase, as both those teams also won, the former trimming Brooklyn and latter shutting out Boston. The Cardinals proved easy for the Phillies, who now are within half a game of ousting the Reds from the foot of the first division.

Better hitting won the game for the Giants, and as corollary to that, better pitching, although George Suggs, notwithstanding his being rocked for a dozen safeties, did not pitch a weak game by any means or one which the Giants could score on with any liberality. The latter had to work for their runs, and it was had to work for their runs, and it was gratifying to see them show more signs of doing timely batting, something on this trip which up to the last few days has been wanting in the New York curriculum. Before the timely hitting manifested

Before the timely hitting manifested itself to-day, however, a number of raps had been wasted, three early innings being especially harassing for the reason that in them the New Yorks got the first up on base, only to have him left or apprehended en route. The base running was tangled during this harassing period and the Giants didn't spring an effective offence until they had gone through six sterile innings. They did most of their hitting in the last three innings, and then hitting in the last three innings, and then teresting to watch.

The fielding by both teams was a big improvement over yesterday's helter skelter performance, though not perfect either in execution or conception. On the length in also a physical boot in the eighth inning, which opened up to the Reds one of their few good chances to score, but then as on other occasions the superior Sizukes. 40 to 50 to 8chight. 11 in 11 pureliab. then, as on other occasions, the superior and polished pitching of the imperturbable Mathewson bridged the chasm.
